TO : Director of Training

DATE: 19 November 1965

FROM : Chief, Career Training Program

SUBJECT: Weekly Activities Report #36

A. SIGNIFICANT ITEMS

B

1. The manpower pinch appears to be getting progressively worse, and is affecting the availability of both external and internal candidates for the January class. We are pushing as hard as we can for every man, but we are up against a combination of circumstances which, for at least the next few months, will keep us in a difficult situation. As I have pointed out before, [the recruitment and processing systems have not kept pace with expanding requirements and we, along with the rest of the Agency, are suffering the effects. I expect some improvement in the Spring, when the returns from Autumn recruitment are in and a few procedural changes have begun to operate, but between here and there we are going to have a January class which may not exceed 35. We may get about 20 of the externals who are in process for January, and we had hoped to get as many internals from the 30 or more who are under consideration for January. However, as of 19 November, [redacted] was informed by Chief, RID, that none of RI's 13 applicants can be released for the January class because of work pressures and a shortage of people. On the same date two others, one from the Office of Communications and one from OCR, were declared similarly unavailable. We are keeping a daily check on the status of every case in process and will report any change in outlook. 25X1A

2. On 29 October I listed fifteen of our current Career Trainees who are draft eligible under the revised Selective Service rules, noting that six, though technically eligible probably would not be called. Of the remaining nine, seven are now taking steps to enter military programs. The remaining two appear to be well down the list of their respective draft boards and will continue their training until they receive further notification.
